About the NIH Clinical Center

The NIH Clinical Center is the research hospital on the National Institutes of Health (NIH) campus in Bethesda, Md., where NIH scientists and volunteer patients partner to create medical innovations.

Some of the Clinical Center's numerous successes include pioneering the cure of cancerous solid tumors with chemotherapy; the use of nitroglycerin to treat heart attacks; identifying a genetic component in schizophrenia; conducting the first successful replacement of a mitral valve to treat heart disease; and creating blood tests to identify both Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS) and hepatitis.

These and other research advances originating from the Clinical Center are now standard practice in medical treatment throughout the world. The rapid translation of scientific observations and laboratory discoveries into new approaches for diagnosing, treating and preventing disease have improved and saved countless lives.

Patients at the Clinical Center consent to participate in research studies, also called protocols, and are treated without charge. Patients who have medical conditions being studied by NIH Institutes or Centers and who meet the specific inclusion criteria can enroll in research studies at the hospital. About 1,600 clinical research studies are underway at the Clinical Center, including protocols focused on cancer, infectious diseases, blood disorders, heart disease, lung disease, alcoholism and drug abuse.

The Clinical Center has been a leader in "bench-to-bedside" medicine. Its specialized hospital design places patient care units in close proximity to research laboratories, facilitating interaction and collaboration among clinical researchers. The Clinical Center also offers world-class training in clinical research for physicians, nurses, medical students, dentists and other members of the medical research community. This environment, offering access to the most advanced techniques, equipment and ideas, attracts a global network of top scientists.

The hospital has 200 inpatient beds, 11 operating rooms, 93 day hospital stations, critical care services and research labs, an ambulatory care research facility for outpatient visits, two onsite pharmacies, a blood bank and a complex array of imaging and diagnostic services. The Clinical Center's infrastructure allows for isolation capabilities for infection control while patients participate in clinical research studies.

Over half a million patients from all 50 states, and many countries around the world, have participated in clinical research at the Clinical Center.
